WACHOVIA WELLS FARGO FOUNDATION PROVIDES FUNDING TO ASSIST TRIANGLE NONPROFITS

The Executive Service Corps of the Triangle (ESC) announces the availability of scholarship funding for Triangle nonprofits needing professional consulting assistance. Through the generosity of the Wachovia Wells Fargo Foundation, nonprofits may apply to ESC for assistance in several core operational areas. Services eligible for the scholarships include:

Board Assessment/Board Development can help Boards be more effective, so that the organization or agency can, in turn, become more efficient.

Board Retreats are intensive one-day meetings designed to help your Board members understand Board functions as well as their own roles and responsibilities.

Strategic Planning is a management tool that will help focus - and periodically refocus - a nonprofit's vision and priorities.

Executive Coaching is a process whereby our consultant works individually with Executive Directors or Board Chairs in a private and supportive environment to help them address the challenges they face in managing a nonprofit organization.

Financial Reporting reviews your budgeting process, reporting and financial monitoring practices, and makes recommendations for improvements.

In announcing the scholarship funding for the 2010 program year, John Messick, Durham Market President for Wachovia, a Wells Fargo company, stated, “At Wachovia and Wells Fargo, we know our success is dependent on the success and strength of the communities we serve. During these challenging economic times, our communities need our support more than ever and we are proud to provide a grant to ESC.”

Organizations eligible for the scholarship funding must be designated as 501©(3) and be based in Wake, Durham, Orange or Chatham counties. Interested nonprofits should contact ESC Executive Director Trudy Smith at (919) 681-3536.

ESC is a 501©(3) nonprofit, providing professional affordable consulting services to Triangle nonprofits. Programs include board retreats, financial assessments, fund raising, and coaching for executive directors. All ESC volunteer consultants are experienced professionals helping nonprofits fulfill their missions.
